OFFICE OF SECURITY BULLETIN (U)

24 August 1979

1. Organization Review Committee To Cause No Major Changes

The OS Organization Review Committee study has found the Office, as it was restructured in 1973, to be strong, efficient and effective. The Director of Security, in announcing the review group's results, stated that no major changes were deemed necessary, but that some realignment of responsibilities and a re-defining of some duties will take place. For example, an Office directive addressing the role of the DD/P&M as OS Executive Officer will be forthcoming. Other recommendations include a review of the Office grade structure and field office staffing; shifting the 'crank mail' program from EAB to Security Records Division; and a study of the funding of the Interagency Training Center with a view towards relieving OS of the total burden of budgetary support. Other recommendations are still under study and decisions will be published shortly. (C)

2. SDO Slots Open To All OS Professional Employees

The Director of Security announced that effective immediately female professionals will be permitted to compete for available positions within the Security Duty Office. The previous restriction, which was based on a belief that certain SDO duties were potentially hazardous, has been reassessed and removed. (U)

3. ISB Industrial Security Cocktail Reception

The ISB Industrial Security Seminar will include an open house cocktail reception on Wednesday, 26 September from 1730 to 1930. Anyone interested in attending should contact ISB on extension 5165. The cost is $6. (U)
